

Book 7

Canto One

The Joy of Union; the Ordeal of the Foreknowledge of Death and the Heart's Grief and Pain

“...when Sri Aurobindo and I were working to bring down the Supramental forces, a descent from the mental plane to the vital plane, He was always telling me that everything I did (when we meditated together, when we worked)—all my movements, all my gestures, all my postures (mudras), all my reactions—was absolutely tantric, as if I had pursued a tantric discipline. But it was spontaneous, it did not correspond to any knowledge, any idea, any will, nothing, and I thought it was like that simply because, as He knew, naturally I followed.”¹⁶ “And he gave me his own example (I had mine, too) of certain things considered dangerous or bad, which we both did independently and spontaneously and which were a great help to us!”⁸⁴

The Mother's Agenda-4/134,

Summary:

This canto marks the beginning of Savitri's journey into the 3rd phase of her Life – the path into Abysmal Night. Her childhood and youth was the 'Sunlit path', her meeting and union with Satyavan was the 'Golden path'. This canto describes how Savitri is finally united with Satyavan in his hermitage and the agony that raged within Savitri (in particular the untransformed parts of her outer being) as the days passed by bringing Narad's fateful day closer. Her being suffers like we all do due to some (Spiritual incapacity) pending tragedy. All she could find to combat her grief was her resolute will and strong heart, but these could not neutralize the suffering (or transformed it into exceeding Joy). She needed the (transforming) power of her inner/higher being, which still hid itself awaiting the proper time/(place) for the revelation.

Detail:

Man seems to be driven by his unalterable fate/karma that uses the instruments of lower nature (desires, ambition, will etc) to lead him to his fixed fate. It seems to most of us (those who have not found their secret self/soul) that we are at the mercy of this fixed fate and are subjugated by our outer nature/matter. It seems to us that the soul if it is indeed present within is a silent witness or at the mercy of the fate and nature, unable (to dynamise the witness Divine or change fixed fate to changeable Spiritual destiny) to alter it.

198, What is the nature and origin of Ignorance (from which fixed fate and doom are born) and its distinction from Knowledge (from which the Spiritual destiny evolves.)? The Life Divine-506-07-08

Ans: “We have then to scrutinize more closely than we have yet done the character and operation of this principle or this power of Ignorance and arrive at a clearer conception of its nature and origin. And first we must fix firmly in our minds what we mean by the word itself. The distinction between the Knowledge and the Ignorance begins with the hymns of the Rig Veda. Here knowledge appears to signify a consciousness of the Truth, the Right, satyam rutam, and of all that is the order of the Truth and Right; ignorance is an unconsciousness, achitti, of the Truth and Right, an opposition of its workings and a creation of false or adverse workings. Ignorance is the absence of the divine eye of perception which gives us the sight of the supramental Truth, it is the non-perceiving principle of our consciousness as opposed to the truth-perceiving conscious vision and knowledge. In its actual operation this non-perceiving is not an entire inconstancy, the inconstant sea from which this world has arisen, but either a limited or a false knowledge, a knowledge based on the division of undivided being, founded upon the fragmentary, the little, opposed to the opulent, vast and luminous completeness of things; it is a cognition which by the opportunity of its limitations is turned into falsehood and supported in that aspect by the sons of Darkness and Division, enemies of the divine endeavour in man, the assailants, robbers, coverers of his light of knowledge. It was therefore regarded as an undivine Maya, that which creates false mental forms and appearances, -- and hence the later significance of this word which seems to have meant originally a formative power of knowledge, the true magic of the supreme Mage, the divine Magician, but was also for adverse formative power of a lower knowledge, the deceit, illusion and deluding magic of the Rakshasa. (A Magician’s formulas have made Matter’s laws (static witness Divine)...All here can change if the Magician choose (Dynamic Divine). Savitri-457 All’s miracle here (witness Divine) and can by miracle change (dynamic Divine). Savitri-85) The divine Maya is the knowledge of the Truth of things, its essence, law, operation, which the gods possess and on which they found their own eternal action and creation and their building of their powers in the human being. This idea of the Vedic mystics can in a more metaphysical thought and language be translated into the conception that the Ignorance is in its origin a dividing mental knowledge which does not grasp the unity, essence, self-knowledge of things in their one origin and in their universality, but works rather upon divided particulars, separate phenomena, partial relations, as if they were the truth we had to seize or as if they could really be understood at all without going back behind the division to the unity, behind the dispersion to the universality. The Knowledge is that which tends towards unification and, attaining to the supramental faculty, seizes the oneness, the essence, the self-law of existence and views and deals with the multiplicity of things out of that light and plenitude, in some sort as does the Divine Himself from the highest height whence He embraces the world. It must be noted however that the Ignorance is this conception of it is still a kind of knowledge, but, because it is limited, it is open at any point to the intrusion of falsehood and error; it turns into a wrong conception of things which stands in opposition to the true Knowledge.”

FATE followed her foreseen immutable road.

Man’s hopes and longings build the journeying wheels (our hopes, desires, ambitions etc are the instruments that Fate uses to lead us to our fixed unalterable destiny)

That bear the body of his destiny

And lead his blind will (not one with the Divine Will) towards an unknown goal.

His fate within him shapes his acts and rules;

Its face and form already are born in him,

Its parentage is in his secret soul (the source of this fixed fate is in our secret divine self, mother (Maa Krishna) is it the Psychic Being that is referred to here): Yes

Here Matter seems to mould the body’s life (matter seems to drive the soul, but that is only the proximate/apparent reason) (complementary line: “An unseen Presence moulds the oblivious clay.” Savitri-60 and “Then life beat pure in the corporeal frame” Savitri-232)

And the soul follows where its nature drives. (The condition of Ignorance and subjection of Soul to Nature.)

Nature and Fate compel his free-will’s choice. (Nature is the fixed mechanical law of the Divine in Ignorance and Inconscience and Fate or doom is the outcome of Karma. Karma is the outcome of sin; sin is the outcome of evil; evil is the outcome of wrong action; wrong action is the outcome of wrong will or activation of physical and vital mind; wrong will is the outcome of falsehood; and falsehood is the outcome of Ignorance or part knowledge. So all doom can be transformed into high Spiritual destiny by emergence of integral Knowledge.)

But that is not the Truth, man if he can unite his consciousness with ‘greater spirits’ (the spiritual/supramental consciousness), then his soul will be liberated from ignorance and will then be empowered to overturn his fixed fate. It no longer needs to be a silent witness.

But greater spirits this balance can reverse (Spirit has the power to transform all negations into affirmation.)

And make the soul the artist of its fate. (through intervention of Psychic and Spiritual being the Spiritual destiny evolves.)

“Sri Aurobindo wrote somewhere, I don’t remember in what connection, that in a certain state of consciousness one had the power to CHANGE THE PAST. I found that very striking.” The Mother’s Agenda/7/243

Its complementary line:

“The soul is the watchful builder of its fate” Savitri-184

This is the mystic truth our ignorance hides: (We are oblivious of our Spiritual destiny due to the mental Maya of lower Knowledge.)

Doom is a passage for our inborn force, (Here doom is not considered as sin or evil but as a passage towards immortality.)

Our ordeal is the hidden spirit’s choice (we have chosen this path and travel through the ignorance, our ordeal is not imposed on us by some other force), (Ordeal visits through intervention of other universal negative forces. In Ignorance the hidden Spirit chooses them while they have no role in Knowledge.)

Ananke is our being's own decree.

"Ananke's engines organising Chance," Savitri-162

"Ananke is our being's own decree." Savitri-465

(Ananke: In ancient Greek cosmology, she was the goddess of Necessity who organised and implemented the rhythms and processes of cosmic existence and human life.)

Savitri was escorted to Satyavan's hermitage by her family and left in the care of Satyavan. The Lord describes the King Dyumatsena as the "great blind king" (blind of inner Light that deprives him of the light of outer kingdom.) and a "pillar of fallen mightiness" (a Spiritual fall which deprived him from the status of mighty king.), the queen is described as a "stately care-worn woman once a queen". (Life flourishes through love and care.) In a way the fallen king can be thought of as the fall of the spirit into inconscience, matter. The queen seems to be like the descent of the vital plane into the matter who was full of life and vitality but now only a shadow of her former self. Savitri is being given by her parents (Their pride and loved one to the great blind king) to the care of the King/Queen and Satyavan, represents perhaps the descent of the Divine Love (to fill the hollow in men's heart) into matter to raise and liberate/transform it, change its fate. Satyavan perhaps represents the Soul that has descended within matter (the delegate Soul of earth) (In the Night of Matter while tracing the path of Immortality he was caught by Death's net) and like the Purusha bears all the suffering (in the form of million inner and outer wounds of earth) behind the scene.

All was fulfilled the heart of Savitri
Flower-sweet and adamant, passionate and calm,
Had chosen and on her strength's unbending road
Forced to its issue the long cosmic curve.
Once more she sat behind loud hastening hooves;
A speed of armoured squadrons and a voice
Far-heard of chariots bore her from her home.
A couchant earth wakened in its dumb muse
Looked up at her from a vast indolence:
Hills wallowing in a bright haze, large lands
That lolled at ease beneath the summer heavens,
Region on region spacious in the sun,
Cities like chrysolites in the wide blaze
And yellow rivers pacing lion-maned
Led to the Shalwa marches' emerald line,
Shalwa is the kingdom of Satyavan.

A happy front to iron vastnesses
And austere peaks and titan solitudes.
Once more was near the fair and fated place, (where Savitri and Satyavan met) (and also the place where Satyavan will die.)
The borders gleaming with the groves' delight
Where first she met the face of Satyavan
And he saw like one waking into a dream
Some timeless beauty and reality,
The moon-gold sweetness of heaven's earth-born child.

"I came here. But something in me wanted to meet Sri Aurobindo all alone the first time... He was living in the house that's now part of the second dormitory, the old Guest House. I climbed up the stairway and he was standing there, waiting for me at the top of the stairs. EXACTLY my vision!

Dressed the same way, in the same position, in profile, his head held high. He turned his head towards me ... and I saw in his eyes that it was He. The two things clicked (gesture of instantaneous shock), the inner experience immediately became one with the outer experience and there was a fusion – the decisive shock.

But this was merely the beginning of my vision. Only after a series of experiences – a ten months' sojourn in Pondicherry, five years of separation, then the return to Pondicherry and the meeting in the same house and in the same way – did the END of the vision occur. I was standing just beside him. My head wasn't exactly on his shoulder, but where his shoulder was (I don't know how to explain it – physically there was hardly any contact). We were standing side by side like that, gazing out through the open window, and then TOGETHER, at exactly the same moment, we felt, 'Now the Realization will be accomplished.' That the seal was set and the Realization would be accomplished. I felt the Thing descending massively within me, with the same certainty I had felt in my vision. From that moment on there was nothing to say-- no words, nothing. We knew it was THAT.

But between these two meetings he participated in a whole series of experiences, experiences of gradually growing awareness. This is partly noted in Prayers and Meditations (I have cut out all the personal segments). But there was one experience I didn't speak of there (that is, I didn't describe it, I put only the conclusion) – the experience where I say 'Since the man refused I was offering participation in the universal work and the new creation and the man didn't want it, he refused, and so I now offer it to God ²⁶²

I don't know, I'm putting it poorly, but this experience was concrete to the point of being physical. It happened in a Japanese country-house where we were living, near a lake. There was a whole series of circumstances, events, all kinds of things – a long, long story, like a novel. But one day I was alone in meditation (I have never had very profound meditations, only concentrations of consciousness – Mother makes an abrupt gesture showing a sudden ingathering of the entire being); and I was seeing. You know that I had taken on the conversion of the Lord of Falsehood: I tried to do it through an emanation incarnated in a physical being, and the greatest effort was made during those four years in Japan. The four years were coming to an end with an absolute inner certainty that there was nothing to be done – that it was impossible, impossible to do it this way. There was nothing to be done. And I was intensely concentrated, asking the Lord, ‘Well, I made You a vow to do this, I had said, “Even if it’s necessary to descend into hell, I will descend into hell to do it...” Now tell me, what must I do?...’The Power was plainly there: suddenly everything in me became still; the whole external being was completely immobilized and I had a vision of the Supreme ... more beautiful than that of the Gita. A vision of the Supreme. And this vision literally gathered me into its arms; it turned towards the West, towards India, and offered me – and there at the other end I saw Sri Aurobindo. It was ... I felt it physically. I saw, saw – my eyes were closed but I saw (twice I have had this vision of the Supreme – once here, much later – but this was the first time) ...ineffable. It was as if this Immensity had reduced itself to a rather gigantic Being who lifted me up like a wisp of straw and offered me. Not a word, nothing else, only that.

Then everything vanished.

The next day we began preparing to return to India.

It was after this vision, when I returned from Japan, that this meeting with Sri Aurobindo took place, along with the certainty that the Mission would be accomplished.

(silence)

This can all be narrated in a very simple way; these things are not metaphysical. It involves occultism, of course, but it’s utterly concrete and simple: things a child could understand.

And these are the real milestones of the whole Story.

I feel it will be told one day. But first of all, this (Mother touches her body) must be sufficiently changed. Then the story will take on its full value.

You understand, none of my certitudes – none, without exception – have EVER come through the mind. The intellectual comprehension of each of these experiences came much later. Little by little, little by little, came the higher understanding of the intellectual consciousness, long after the experience (I don’t mean philosophical knowledge – that’s nothing but scholarly mumbo- jumbo and leaves me cold). Since my earliest childhood, experiences have come like that: something massive takes hold of you and you don’t need to believe or disbelieve, know or not know – bam! There’s nothing to say; you are facing a fact.

Once, during those last difficult years, Sri Aurobindo told me that this was precisely what gave me my advantage and why (how to put it?) there were greater possibilities that I would go right to the end.

I still don’t know. The day I do ... it will probably be done. Because it will come in the same manner, like a massive fact: it will be LIKE THAT. [407] And only much later will the understanding say, ‘Ah! So that’s what it is!’

First it comes, afterwards we know it.” The Mother/December 20, 1961

The past receded and the future neared:

“She must disrupt, dislodge by her soul's force

Her past, a block on the Immortal's road,
Make a rased ground and shape anew her fate." Savitri-12

Far now behind lay Madra's spacious halls, (Before the pull of Spiritual call, the prosperity and opulence of material life becomes meaningless.)

Madra is the kingdom of King Aswapati:

"Musing she answered, "I am Savitri, Princess of Madra.
Who art thou? What name Musical on earth expresses thee to men?" Book-5, Canto-3

"King Aswapati's palace to the winds
In Madra, flowering up in delicate stone." Book-6, Canto-1

"I am the Madran, I am Savitri.

All that I was before, I am to thee still,
Close comrade of thy thoughts and hopes and toils,
All happy contraries I would join for thee.
All sweet relations marry in our life;
I am thy kingdom even as thou art mine,
The sovereign and the slave of thy desire,
Thy prone possessor, sister of thy soul
And mother of thy wants; thou art my world,
The earth I need, the heaven my thoughts desire,
The world I inhabit and the god I adore." Book-12, Canto-1

The white carved pillars, the cool dim alcoves,
The tinged mosaic of the crystal floors,
The towered pavilions, the wind-rippled pools
And gardens humming with the murmur of bees,
Forgotten soon or a pale memory
The fountain's plash in the white stone-bound pool,
The thoughtful noontide's brooding solemn trance, (Savitri was going through experience of trance from her childhood.)

"When I was five years old...well I began with a consciousness. Of course I had no idea what it was. But my first experience was of the consciousness here (gesture above the head), which I felt like a Light and a Force; and I felt it there at the age of five. It was very pleasant sensation. I would sit in a little armchair made especially for me, all alone in my room, and I had a very pleasant feeling of something very strong, very luminous, and it was here (above the head).... Then I would pull it down, for it was...it was truly my raison d'être." The Mother/Conversation with a disciple, July 25, 1962,

The colonnade's dream grey in the quiet eve,
The slow moonrise gliding in front of Night.
Left far behind were now the faces known, (Spiritual life is a second birth of dwija, for him the past known faces leave far behind as an event of past birth.)

The happy silken babble on laughter's lips
And the close-clinging clasp of intimate hands
And adoration's light in cherished eyes
Offered to the one sovereign of their life.
Nature's primaeval loneliness was here: (This outer loneliness is a symbol of inner loneliness which is indispensable to pursue spiritual life.)

Here only was the voice of bird and beast, —
The ascetic's exile in the dim-souled huge Inhuman forest far from cheerful sound (forest is inhuman for them those who are attached to earthly enjoyment.)

Of man's blithe converse and his crowded days.

Blithe: showing a casual and cheerful indifference considered to be callous or improper.

In a broad eve with one red eye of cloud,
Through a narrow opening, a green flowered cleft,
Out of the stare of sky and soil they came
Into a mighty home of emerald dusk.
There onward led by a faint brooding path
Which toiled through the shadow of enormous trunks
And under arches misers of sunshine,
They saw low thatched roofs of a hermitage
Huddled beneath a patch of azure hue
In a sunlit clearing that seemed the outbreak
Of a glad smile in the forest's monstrous heart,
A rude refuge of the thought and will of man Watched by the crowding giants of the wood. (this seclusion and simple living is ideal to meet God.)

Arrived in that rough-hewn homestead they gave, Questioning no more the strangeness of her fate (Savitri's family accepted her wish and no longer questioned her choice of sylvan forest, blind king and thatched house.),
Their pride and loved one to the great blind king,
A regal pillar of fallen mightiness
And the stately care-worn woman once a queen (Satyavan's birth mother)
Who now hoped nothing for herself from life,
But all things only hoped for her one child, (Satyavan)
Calling on that single head from partial Fate

All joy of earth, all heaven's beatitude. (The parents' highest aspiration for their children.)

Beatitude: supreme blessedness

Satyavan's birth mother is identified in this epic as the smallest character, the symbolic representation of child Soul and through her Sri Aurobindo gives the strongest message of true consecrated service to all earth-bound aspiring child Souls and their right relation with the Mother Soul, here symbolically represented as Savitri. Mother Soul serves earth from below as a slave and from above and beyond like strong sunlight and she trespasses the bound life of child Souls as strong Goddess and liberates them from their barren days. Like all other parents, Satyavan's birth mother aspired for her only child, 'All joy of earth, all heaven's beatitude.'
A similar observation is marked in King Aswapati who aspired to pass the mortal life of his only child Savitri unwounded and further aspired for this young spirit untouched with tears, 'All beautiful things eternal seem and new.'

Adoring wisdom and beauty like a young god's,
She saw him loved by heaven as by herself, (Satyavan's Mother was also a follower of middle path of moderate Spirituality.) (Satyavan's Mother saw her love with Satyavan and his love received from heaven, both complements for the fullness of life.)

She rejoiced in his brightness and believed in his fate (Satyavan's brightness reflects his purity of mind, life and body.)

And knew not of the evil drawing near (Satyavan's mother, the queen, had only one wish that her child should have all happiness, she was not aware of his fate to come).

(A moderate is oblivious of future doom and is preoccupied with present moments. An awareness of future doom comes through vision, and by consecration, Divine union is experienced and the doom changes.)

Her family returned to Madra leaving her to face her fate, they wondered within how fate having brought 2 such wonderful beings together carelessly breaks them apart....Her higher spiritual being observed all and waited for the time to intimate its presence to her.

Lingering some days upon the forest verge
Like men who lengthen out departure's pain,
Unwilling to separate sorrowful clinging hands,
Unwilling to see for the last time a face,
Heavy with the sorrow of a coming day

And wondering at the carelessness of Fate

Who breaks with idle hands her supreme works,

They (Savitri's family members) parted from her with pain-fraught burdened hearts

As forced by inescapable fate we part

From one whom we shall never see again; (There is no second meeting between Savitri and her family members.)

Driven by the singularity of her fate, (single minded Savitri)

Helpless against the choice of Savitri's heart (Soul's choice is the final decision and cannot be reviewed.)

They left her to her rapture and her doom (Here the Moderate and Ascetic spirituality gives consent to the higher Spiritual appetite of Savitri.) (If Savitri's parents were mundane they would not have supported Savitri's choice.) (Savitri had to witness the rapture of her union with the soul and union with her second self which in the passage of time prepares her to confront the doom.)

In the tremendous forest's savage charge.

All put behind her that was once her life, (Spiritual rebirth discourages a return to the past.)

All welcomed that henceforth was his and hers, (Spiritual rebirth gathers together new chosen Souls.)

She abode with Satyavan in the wild woods: (Her relation with physical body of Satyavan was not the hunger or lust of the body but a descent of Divine Love to the dual form.)

Priceless she deemed her joy so close to death; (Her joy was priceless which can confront death and can save life. Earthly joy is soul slaying and always submits itself before death.)

Apart with love she lived for love alone. (She lived only for the Divine who has incarnated here as Love.)

Its complementary line:

“Awakened to the meaning of my heart

That to feel love and oneness is to live
And this the magic of our golden change, (Supramentalised Psychic)
Is all the truth I know or seek, O sage.” Savitri-724

“To live, to love are signs of infinite things,
Love is a glory from eternity’s spheres.
Abased, disfigured, mocked by baser might
That steal his (Divine Love’s) name and shape and ecstasy,
He (Divine Love) is still the godhead by which all can change.”

Savitri-397

“There unity is too close for search and clasp
And love is a yearning of the One for the One,
And beauty is a sweet difference of the Same
And oneness is the soul of multitude.” Savitri-31-32

As if self-poised above the march of days,
Her immobile spirit watched the haste of Time, (the witness Spirit if dynamised can stay the movement of Time.) (Savitri was preparing from strong witness state of Spirit, Sakhi, to strong giver of sanction, anumanta, and state of the Lord, Ishwara, controlling Spiritually the fixed law of Nature and Fate.)

A statue of passion and invincible force,
An absolutism of sweet imperious will,
A tranquillity and a violence of the gods
Indomitable and immutable.

In the initial months Savitri enjoyed her oneness both (subtle physically which is symbolized in physical terms) physically and spiritually with Satyavan, with her surroundings and simple life.

121, What is the nature of Subliminal Soul (subtle physical) and what is its influence on the desire soul? The Life Divine-236-237

Ans: “The subliminal soul is conscious inwardly of the rasa of things and has an equal delight in all contacts; it is also conscious of the values and standards of the surface desire-soul and receives on its own surface corresponding touches of pleasure, pain and indifference, but takes an equal delight in all. In other words, our real soul within takes joy of all its experiences, gathers from them strength, pleasure and knowledge, grows by them in its store and its plenty. It is this real soul in us which compels the shrinking desire-mind to bear even to seek and find a pleasure in what is painful to it, to reject what is pleasant to it, to modify or even reverse its values, to equalize things in indifference or to equalize them in joy, the joy in variety of existence. And this it does because it is impelled by the universal to develop itself by all kinds of experience so as to grow in Nature. Otherwise, if we lived only by the surface desire-soul, we could no more change or advance than the plant or stone in whose immobility or in whose routine of existence, because life is not superficially conscious, the secret soul of things has as yet no instrument by which it can rescue the life out of the fixed and narrow gamut into which it is born. The desire-soul left to itself would circle in the same grooves for ever.”

At first to her beneath the sapphire heavens
 The sylvan solitude was a gorgeous dream,
 An altar of the summer's splendour and fire,
 A sky-topped flower-hung palace of the gods
 And all its scenes a smile on rapture's lips
 And all its voices bards of happiness.
 There was a chanting in the casual wind,
 There was a glory in the least sunbeam;
 Night was a chrysoprase on velvet cloth,
Chrysoprase: represents optimism (symbol of the gem)
 A nestling darkness or a moonlit deep;
 Day was a purple pageant and a hymn,
A wave of the laughter of light from morn to eve. (The Soul's natural state.)
 "And joy laugh nude on the peaks of the Absolute." Savitri-454
 "Only to be was a supreme delight,
 Life was a happy laughter of the soul
 And Joy was king with Love for minister." Savitri-124

His absence was a dream of memory (when Satyavan was physically away from Savitri working in the woods), (Through memory we make up our deficiency of all life by relating to our past Psychic moments and by integral Consciousness we fulfill our relation with all life through activation of triple time, that of past, present and future.)

204, What is memory? The Life Divine-519-20

Ans: There is a line of thought in which great stress is laid upon the action of memory: it has even been said that Memory is the man,--it is memory that constitutes our personality and holds cemented the foundation of our psychological being; for it links together our experiences and relates them to one and the same individual entity.

205, How memory is related with Consciousness? The Life Divine- 520

Ans: The real truth of things lies not in their process, but behind it, in whatever determines, effects or governs the process; not in effectuation so much in Will or Power that effects, and not so much in Will or Power as in the Consciousness of which Will is the dynamic form and in the Being of which Power is the dynamic value. But memory is only a process of consciousness, a utility; it cannot be the substance of being or the whole of our personality: it is simply one of the workings of consciousness as radiation is one of the workings of Light. It is Self that is the man: or if we regard only our normal surface existence, Mind is the man, --for man is the mental being. Memory is only one of the many powers and processes of the Mind, which is at present the chief action of Consciousness-Force in our dealings with self, world and Nature.

His presence was the empire of a god. (His Presence activates the Divine Union and as a result brings creation, action, ananda and love.)

Its complementary line:

Its (Supreme Self's) absence left the greatest actions dull,
Its presence made the smallest (action) seem divine." Savitri-305,

A fusing of the joys of earth and heaven, (And also fusing together of terrestrial human love and Divine love whose essential truth are one and self-existent.)

A tremulous blaze of nuptial rapture passed,

A rushing of two spirits to be one, (two individual Psychic beings.)

Similar experience of Psychic union:

'A diarchy of two united souls,' Savitri-295

A burning of two bodies in one flame (two bodies in one immutable Spiritual being).

Similar lines of Spiritual union:

'A single being in two bodies clasped,' Savitri-295

Opened were gates of unforgettable bliss: (These experiences are stored in memory as Soul-experience.) (Bliss Self union)

Two lives were locked within an earthly heaven (Subtle physical is identified as earthly heaven which is very close to material world but is of the nature, imperishable and self-existent delight.)

And fate and grief fled from that fiery hour. (subtle physical love and enjoyment drive away fixed fate and earthly enjoyment.)

But nothing in this world lasts forever and soon like the change in the seasons so too did the thought of Satyavan's death and Narad's words surface to haunt her outer being. The grief that mortals feel on a pending doom or misfortune afflicted Savitri and she grieved within all mere mortals do. This suffering only touched Savitri's untransformed outer being. Savitri is now turning to the 3rd phase in her life, the path into Abysmal Night (the 1st phase being the 'Sunlit path', the 2nd phase being 'Golden path' – see mind map for Savitri's Yoga)

But soon now failed the summer's ardent breath
And throngs of blue-black clouds crept through the sky
And rain fled sobbing over the dripping leaves
And storm became the forest's titan voice.
Then listening to the thunder's fatal crash
And the fugitive pattering footsteps of the showers
And the long unsatisfied panting of the wind
And sorrow muttering in the sound-vexed night,

The grief of all the world came near to her.

Its complementary line:

"The sorrow of all living things shall come

And knock at his (Avatara's) doors and live within his house;"

Savitri-446

"In the night, I am always given a state of human consciousness to put right, one after another—there are millions of them. And there are always all the images and events that illustrate that particular state of consciousness. At times, it is very hard going: I wake up tired, as after a long period of work."

The Mother/ The Mother's Agenda-5/170-71,

Night's darkness seemed her future's ominous face. (Night symbolizes the Inconscient darkness.)

The shadow of her lover's doom arose
And fear laid hands upon her mortal heart. (fear, doubt and impatience are three friends, coexistent in the life which is not yet transformed.)
The moments swift and ruthless raced; alarmed (If passing moments are not rightly utilized in Divine union, it will give birth to impatience.)
Her thoughts, her mind remembered Narad's date. (Mind cannot transform death into immortality, for which intervention of higher Consciousness is needed.)

“Her thoughts, her mind remembered Narad's date.”

Savitri-469

“Immobile in herself, she gathered force.
This was the day when Satyavan must die.”

Savitri-10

“Twelve swift-winged months are given to him and her;
This day returning Satyavan must die.”

Savitri-431

“It is decreed and Satyavan must die.
The hour is fixed, chosen the fatal stroke.”

Savitri-458

A trembling moved accountant of her riches,
She reckoned the insufficient days between:
A dire expectancy knocked at her breast;
Dreadful to her were the footsteps of the hours:
Grief came, a passionate stranger to her gate:
Banished when in his arms, out of her sleep (grief can be banished through Divine union. His arms represent divine Love and Divine union.)
It rose at morn to look into her face. (At morn she met her desire soul in the form of grief and memory of fore knowledge. This takes years to transform in the life of a Sadhaka through persistent effort. Here it is symbolized that her desire soul will be transformed within a period less than one year.)
Vainly she fled into abysms of bliss (There are bliss which transform life and escape from life. The former is considered as higher siddhi than the latter.)
From her pursuing foresight of the end.
The more she plunged into love that anguish grew; (human love is not free from attachment. With the growth of attachment the anguish will grow.)
Her deepest grief from sweetest gulfs arose. (The gulf which is untouched by Divine Love is the seat of highest attachment.)
Remembrance was a poignant pang, she felt (The remembrance of incapacity to transform death became a poignant pang.)

Each day a golden leaf torn cruelly out (like the leaves that fall from a tree in autumn, so too each passing day was like a leaf falling from her tree of one life with Satyavan)
169, How are Time and Consciousness related? The Life Divine-377

Ans: “If we go behind Time by a similar inward motion, drawing back from the physical and seeing it without being involved in it, we discover that Time observation and Time movement are relative, but Time itself is real and eternal. Time observation depends not only on the measures used, but on the consciousness and the position of the observer: moreover, each state of consciousness has a different Time relation; Time in Mind consciousness and Mind Space has not the same sense and measure of its movements as in physical Space; it moves there quickly or slowly according to the state of consciousness. Each state of consciousness has its own Time and yet there can be relations of Time between them; and when we go behind the physical surface, we find several different Time statuses and Time movements coexistent in the same consciousness. This is evident in dream Time where a long sequence of happenings can occur in a period which corresponds to a second or a few seconds of physical Time. There is then a certain relation between different Time statuses but no ascertainable correspondence of measure. It would seem as if Time had no objective reality, but depends on whatever conditions may be established by action of consciousness in its relation to status and motion of being: time would seem purely subjective. But, in fact, Space also would appear by the mutual relation of Mind-Space and Matter-Space to be subjective; in other words, both are the original spiritual extension, but it is rendered by mind in its purity into a subjective mind-field and by sense-mind into an objective field of sense-perception. Subjectivity and objectivity are only two sides of one consciousness, and the cardinal fact is that any given time or Space or any given Time-Space as a whole is a status of being in which there is a movement of the consciousness and force of the being, a movement that creates or manifests events and happening; it is the relation of the consciousness that sees and the force that formulates the happenings, a relation inherent in the status, which determines the sense of Time and creates our awareness of Time-movement, Time-relation, Time-measure.”

From her too slender book of love and joy.

(Another complementary line:

“And the mystic volume of the book of Bliss” Savitri-232)

Thus swaying in strong gusts of happiness (she vacillated between the joy when she was with Satyavan and the sorrow in her heart when she remembered the fate to come)

And swimming in foreboding’s sombre waves

And feeding sorrow and terror with her heart, —

For now they sat among her bosom’s guests

Or in her inner chamber paced apart, —

Her eyes stared blind into the future’s night.

Out of her separate self she looked and saw (Mother (Maa Krishna) who is the ‘separate self’), (Not the Psychic being, but this separate self or ego bound self is located between the surface self and the desire self.)

Moving amid the unconscious faces loved,

In mind a stranger though in heart so near,

The ignorant smiling world go happily by

Upon its way towards an unknown doom

And wondered at the careless lives of men. (men lead a careless life, oblivious of true aim of life.)

As if in different worlds they walked, though close,
They confident of the returning sun,

They wrapped in little hourly hopes and tasks, — (ignorance is bliss)

She in her dreadful knowledge was alone. (because nobody can help her to overcome the dreadful future knowledge.)

“The soul that can live alone with itself meets God;”

Savitri-460

“A lonely soul passions for the Alone”

Savitri-632

“In the dim Night it (Savitri’s heart) lies alone with God.”

Savitri-635

“There knowing herself by her own termless self,
Wisdom supernal, wordless, absolute
Sat uncompanied in the eternal Calm,
All-seeing, motionless, sovereign and alone.”

Savitri-32

“Lonely his days and splendid like the sun’s.”

Savitri-45

The rich and happy secrecy that once

Enshrined her as if in a silver bower

Bower: a pleasant shady place under trees or climbing plants in a garden or wood

Apart in a bright nest of thoughts and dreams

Made room for tragic hours of solitude

And lonely grief that none could share or know,

A body seeing the end too soon of joy

And the fragile happiness of its mortal love.

(Its complementary line:

“But vain are human power and human love

To break earth’s seal of ignorance and death;”) Savitri-315

While the sorrow and agony raged in Savitri’s heart she maintained an outer mask of sweet calmness and those around her did not know what she suffered silently within. She looked for a power within that she could use to either rise above the agony or to transform/neutralize in some way but that power she would not find, only her strong adamant will and passionate heart was available to her and these are not enough to transform...for her Psychic Being was still veiled from her, only occasional glimpses were given.

Her quiet visage still and sweet and calm,

Her graceful daily acts were now a mask;

In vain she looked upon her depths to find (Because in the depth below the surface she found the vast untransformed subliminal self.)

A ground of stillness and the spirit’s peace.

Still veiled from her was the silent Being within (She has not yet discovered the Psychic being.)

Who sees life’s drama pass with unmoved eyes, (Witness state of the Soul to bear all suffering.)

Supports the sorrow of the mind and heart
And bears in human breasts the world and fate.

A glimpse or flashes came, the Presence was hid. (brief touch of Soul/Spirit.)

Only her violent heart and passionate will

Were pushed in front to meet the immutable doom (but these are insufficient to face the pending doom);

Defenceless, nude, bound to her human lot

They had no means to act, no way to save. (Only the unveiled Psychic being has the power to save.)

These she controlled, nothing was shown outside: (So she controlled her violent heart and passionate will.)

She was still to them the child they knew and loved;

The sorrowing woman they saw not within. (This means the new surrounding world was still in the surface and was unable to identify with Savitri's issue.) (This also hints that a Sadhaka need not expect anything or any help from the surrounding world.)

No change was in her beautiful motions seen:

In spite of her inner agony, Savitri with a bright sweetness did all the work and served all those around her, she was not despondent and indolent, rather the difficulties seemed to accentuate her inner divinity, for into every simple act of her menial work she suffused her Divine love and this raised the work to something Divine. However from time to time the agony would invade her heart and the hidden divinity would retreat to the depths and she would feel the meaninglessness of life that we all feel.

A worshipped empress all once vied to serve,

She made herself the diligent serf of all, (To become the slave of all is the condition of becoming the Master of all.) (By becoming the slave of Satyavan's family members, representing developing souls, the gulf between swift Spiritual evolution of developed soul is bridged with slow evolution of Developing soul.)

"There are two who are unfit for greatness and freedom, the man who has never been a slave to another and the nation that has never been under the yoke of foreigners."

Sri Aurobindo

"If thou canst not be the slave of all mankind, thou art not fit to be its master..."

Sri Aurobindo

"To be the master of the world would indeed be supreme felicity, if one were universally loved; but for that one would have to be at the same time the slave of all humanity."

Sri Aurobindo

Nor spared the labour of broom and jar and well,

Or close gentle tending or to heap the fire

Of altar and kitchen, no slight task allowed

To others that her woman's strength might do.

In all her acts a strange divinity shone: (This demonstrates her perfection in Karma Yoga) (Through contact with matter alone Spirit can be reconciled. Here Lord has projected Savitri as Karma yogi.)

78, What is the limitation of action in surface constructed personality and how in true consciousness we experience liberated action? The Life Divine-476

Ans: "But in experience we find that for us it is, normally, a quiescence that brings in the stable realization of the eternal and the infinite: it is in silence or quietude that we feel most firmly the Something that is behind the world shown to us by our mind and senses. Our cognitive action of thought, our action of life and being seem to overlay the truth, the reality; they grasp the finite but not the infinite, they deal with the temporal and not the eternal Real. It is reasoned that this is so because all action, all creation, all determining perception limits; it does not embrace or grasp the Reality, and its constructions disappear when we enter into the indivisible and indeterminable consciousness of the Real: these constructions are unreal in eternity, however real they may seem or be in Time. Action leads to ignorance, to the created and finite; kinesis and creation are a contradiction of the immutable Reality, the pure uncreated Existence. But this reasoning is not wholly valid because it is looking at perception and action only as they are in our mental cognition of the world and its movement; but that is the experience of our surface being regarding things from its shifting motion in Time, a regard itself superficial, fragmentary and delimited, not total, not plunging into the inner sense of things. In fact we find that action need not bind or limit, if we get out of this moment-cognition (second exclusive concentration) into a status of cognition of the eternal (essential, multiple and higher concentration) proper to the true consciousness. Action does not bind or limit the liberated man; action does not bind or limit the Eternal: but we can go farther and say that action does not bind or limit our own true being at all. Action has no such effect on the spiritual Person or Purusha or on the psychic entity within us, it binds or limits only the surface constructed personality. This personality is a temporary expression of our self-being, a changing form of it, empowered to exist by it, dependent on it for substance and endurance, --temporary, but not unreal."

Into a simplest movement she could bring
A oneness with earth's glowing robe of light,
A lifting up of common acts by love.
"This bright perfection of her inner state
Poured overflowing into her outward scene,
Made beautiful dull common natural things
And action wonderful and time divine.
Even the smallest and meanest work became
A sweet or glad and glorious sacrament,
An offering to the self of the great world
Or a service to the One in each and all." Savitri-532,

All-love was hers and its one heavenly cord
 Bound all to all with her as golden tie. (Supramental love)
 But when her grief to the surface pressed too close,
 These things, once gracious adjuncts of her joy,
 Seemed meaningless to her, a gleaming shell,
 Or were a round mechanical and void,
 Her body's actions shared not by her will.
 Always behind this strange divided life
 Her spirit like a sea of living fire
 Possessed her lover and to his body clung, (Spiritual protection extended to Satyavan.)
 One locked embrace to guard its threatened mate. (Death has to break this lock of love in order take Satyavan.) (Their relation strengthened by Yoga Shakti and Death has to break this bond before taking Satyavan away.)
 At night she woke through the slow silent hours
 Brooding on the treasure of his bosom and face,
 Hung o'er the sleep-bound beauty of his brow
 Or laid her burning cheek upon his feet.
 Waking at morn her lips endlessly clung to his, (human love is tiring and depressing and when used as symbol of Divine love it is tireless and means of flow of large overhead energy.) (Those who misunderstand it experience Spiritual fall. So Divine Love is identified in Savitri as sealed book for developing Souls.)
 Integral Yoga does not recommend the Tantric means of external human aid to experience the Divine Love for beginners or its necessity is dispensable in order to avoid distortion, abasement and the Spiritual fall.
 Its indispensable end is that the Divine Love can be experienced through Purusha's union with Prakriti in Ignorance, Ishwara-Shakti union in the Knowledge and Brahman-Maya union in the Supramental, Vijnana. We have to understand Radha and Krishna or Divine incarnation of Savitri and Satyavan in this inner perspective, where marriage between the 'eternal Lord and Spouse' takes place in our heart's secluded chamber and extended to all other nine planes of Consciousness.
 Unwilling ever to separate again
 Or lose that honeyed drain of lingering joy,
 Unwilling to loose his body from her breast,
 The warm inadequate signs that love must use. (The Divine Love must work in all the ten sheaths of which physical realm is considered very inadequate.)
 Intolerant of the poverty of Time
 Her passion catching at the fugitive hours Willed the expense of centuries in one day (Through Yoga or Spiritual evolution one can compress a thousand year progress or growth into a single year.)
 (The complementary of this line:
 "An inspired Knowledge sat enthroned within Whose seconds illumined more than reason's years:" Savitri-37)
 Of prodigal love and the surf of ecstasy;
 Or else she strove even in mortal time
 To build a little room for timelessness (In this little room death cannot enter.)

By the deep union of two human lives, (That is possible by deep Divine union through human vessel.)

Her soul secluded shut into his soul.

After all was given she demanded still;

Even by his strong embrace unsatisfied,

She longed to cry, "O tender Satyavan,

O lover of my soul, give more, give more (Love gives invisibly the fullness of life.)

Of love while yet thou canst, to her thou lov'st.

"What more, what more, if more must still be done?" Savitri-531

Imprint thyself for every nerve to keep

That thrills to thee the message of my heart.

For soon we part and who shall know how long

Before the great wheel in its monstrous round (great wheel of earth's doom.)

Complementary line:

"To stay the wheels of Doom this greatness rose." Book-1, canto-1

Restore us to each other and our love?"

Too well she loved to speak a fateful word (at times she wanted to confide in Satyavan and share her suffering with him)

And lay her burden on his happy head;

She pressed the outsurging grief back into her breast

To dwell within silent, unhelped, alone.

"She in her dreadful knowledge was alone." Savitri-470

But Satyavan sometimes half understood, (and Satyavan intuitively grasping her agony gave as much of his time to her as he could) (To fully understand is the prerogative of Gods. Once an Avatara takes human body, by the pressure of mental Maya, a part of the fore knowledge is veiled. This we observe in King Aswapati and Satyavan. In Narad we observe this fore knowledge more vivid and comprehensive.))

Or felt at least with the uncertain answer

Of our thought-blinded hearts the unuttered need,

The unplumbed abyss of her deep passionate want.

All of his speeding days that he could spare

From labour in the forest hewing wood

And hunting food in the wild sylvan glades

And service to his father's sightless life

He gave to her and helped to increase the hours

By the nearness of his presence and his clasp,

And lavish softness of heart-seeking words

And the close beating felt of heart on heart.

All (external care) was too little for her bottomless need.

If in his presence she forgot awhile,

Grief filled his absence with its aching touch;

"His absence was a dream of memory,

His presence was the empire of a god." Savitri-468

"Its (Supreme Self's) absence left the greatest actions dull,

Its presence made the smallest (action) seem divine." Savitri-305,

When Satyavan was physically away working in the woods, she was reminded of his pending permanent absence and was overcome with grief, she sometimes imagined that she would follow him in the funeral pyre but knew that she would need to remain to look after his parents. This again represents that untransformed part of Savitri that did not want to/could not confront death, that gave into doubt. Savitri had to overcome 3 obstacles to her union with Satyavan (the 1st was her birth mother's objections, the last will be Death itself, now she wrestles with the 2nd obstacle – parts of her untransformed outer being)

She saw the desert of her coming days
Imaged in every solitary hour. (In every leisure hour she was conscious of the issue.)
Although with a vain imaginary bliss
Of fiery union through death's door of escape (escape into Param dham)
She dreamed of her body robed in funeral flame,
She knew she must not clutch that happiness
To die with him and follow, seizing his robe
Across our other countries, travellers glad
Into the sweet or terrible Beyond. (The later Vedantic solution of problem of life captured Savitri.)
For those sad parents still would need her here
To help the empty remnant of their day. (moderate solution of living an unaccompanied lonely life without Satyavan.)
Often it seemed to her the ages' pain
Had pressed their quintessence into her single woe,
Concentrating in her a tortured world.

Savitri became even more inwardly withdrawn and became even more merged with Satyavan's inner being till the union between them was so complete that even the physical barrier between them seemed to melt. The love within her grew each day till it engulfed her and the whole world and made her vessel fit to receive the blows that the mighty gods deal to men and earth to transform it.

Thus in the silent chamber of her soul
Cloistering her love to live with secret grief
She dwelt like a dumb priest with hidden gods
Unappeased by the wordless offering of her days,
Lifting to them her sorrow like frankincense,
Her life the altar, herself the sacrifice.

Yet ever they grew into each other more
Until it seemed no power could rend apart, (increase of bond due to accumulation Spiritual energy is a solution of confronting and conquering death.)

Since even the body's walls could not divide.

For when he wandered in the forest, oft
Her conscious spirit walked with him and knew (while Satyavan was away from her in the forest.)
His actions as if in herself he moved;
He, less aware, thrilled with her from afar. (This is subtle physical Divine Love which will one day replace the divisible human love.)
Always the stature of her passion grew;

Grief, fear became the food of mighty love.
 Increased by its torment it filled the whole world;
 It was all her life, became her whole earth and heaven. (All life is from the beginning of the creation to the Divinisation of creation.)
 Although life-born, an infant of the hours, (the present evolution is in its infant stage.)
 Immortal it walked unslayable as the gods:
Her spirit stretched measureless in strength divine,
An anvil for the blows of Fate and Time:
 Or tired of sorrow's passionate luxury,
 Grief's self became calm, dull-eyed, resolute,
 Awaiting some issue of its fiery struggle,
 Some deed in which it might for ever cease,
Victorious over itself and death and tears.

The year now paused upon the brink of change.
 No more the storms sailed with stupendous wings
 And thunder strode in wrath across the world,
 But still was heard a muttering in the sky
 And rain dripped wearily through the mournful air
 And grey slow-drifting clouds shut in the earth.
 So her grief's heavy sky shut in her heart.

Yet her inner/higher being hid itself and waited for the appropriate time to reveal.

A still (surface self) self hid behind but gave no light: (To discover the light of the Psychic being she will pursue the Sadhana.) (Or her surface physical self was not yet opened towards the Divine.)

No voice came down from the forgotten heights; (No Soul saving voice descended from above.)

Only in the privacy of its brooding pain

Her human heart spoke to the body's fate. (The limitation of her human heart was unable to alter the body's fate.)

Some more Savitri's exploration of Surface Physical Self:-

“Lending her (Queen) speech to the surface soul on earth”

Savitri-437

“He sees his little self as very God.
 His little ‘I’ swallowed the whole world,
 His ego has stretched into infinity.”

Savitri-453

“Because thy strength is a part not God's whole,
 Because afflicted by the little self
 Thy consciousness forgets to be divine”

Savitri-454

“Or tired of sorrow's passionate luxury,
Grief's self became calm, dull-eyed, resolute,
 Awaiting some issue of its fiery struggle,
 Some deed in which it might for ever cease,
 Victorious over itself and death and tears.”

Savitri-473

“A still self hid behind but gave no light:
No voice came down from the forgotten heights;
Only in the privacy of its brooding pain
Her human heart spoke to the body’s fate.”

Savitri-473

“On a dim ocean of subconscious life
A formless surface consciousness awoke:”

Savitri-477

“Aspiring he transcends his earthly self;”

Savitri-486

“And claimed deep union with its outer selves,”

Savitri-675

END OF CANTO ONE

My Divine Child Auroprem,

I am sending this Canto-1, book-7, today on this sacred Diwali

Divine Amar Atman!

My Blessed Divine Child Guruprasad,

My all love and blessings to you. This book-7, Canto-1, is the period in which Savitri came in initial contact with the Divine Love, before opening of her Psychic, Spiritual, Universal and Supramental Self.

Here we also find the negative untransformed Nature of Savitri which rose in the form of ‘sorrow of coming days,’ ‘fate and grief,’ ‘grief of all the world,’ ‘fear laid hands upon her mortal heart,’ ‘Her deepest grief from sweetest gulfs arose,’ ‘poignant pang.’ ‘feeding sorrow and terror with her heart,’ ‘lonely grief that none could share or know,’ ‘the fragile happiness of its mortal love,’ ‘The sorrowing woman they saw not within,’ ‘this strange divided life,’ ‘She pressed the outsurging grief back into her breast,’ ‘All (external care) was too little for her bottomless need,’ ‘Grief filled his absence with its aching touch,’ ‘Grief, fear became the food of mighty love,’ ‘So her grief’s heavy sky shut in her heart,’ ‘Only in the privacy of its brooding pain.'

Similarly the affirmative energy she met to confront with negative untransformed energy are: 'But greater spirits this balance (of fate) can reverse And make the soul the artist of its fate,' 'Priceless she deemed her joy so close to death,' 'Apart with love she lived for love alone,' 'A wave of the laughter of light from morn to eve,' 'A fusing of the joys of earth and heaven,' 'Opened were gates of unforgettable bliss,' 'In all her acts a strange divinity shone,' 'All-love was hers and its one heavenly cord Bound all to all with her as golden tie,' 'Her spirit like a sea of living fire Possessed her lover and to his body clung, One locked embrace to guard its threatened mate,' 'Yet ever they grew into each other more Until it seemed no power could rend apart, Since even the body's walls could not divide,' 'Her spirit stretched measureless in strength divine.'

Divine Love is tireless and can change destiny where as human love is tiring and depressing and subject one to the clutch of Death. Few can understand and interpret the symbol used here and can draw benefit from the Divine Presence of dual incarnation. The secret of Their supreme relation opens the Supramental gate of prepared vessel.

OM TAT SAT

With my eternal love and blessings....

The Post Thesis

Each line of Savitri is equally important. Here below a division is made for the purpose of Sadhana, for the purpose of concentration, contemplation and meditation and tracing a path of Unknowable.

The Important Secret of this chapter:

"All of his (Satyavan) speeding days that he could spare

From labour in the forest hewing wood

And hunting food in the wild sylvan glades

And service to his father's sightless life

He gave to her and helped to increase the hours

By the nearness of his presence and his clasp,

And lavish softness of heart-seeking words

And the close beating felt of heart on heart." Savitri-472

“Thus in the silent chamber of her soul
Cloistering her love to live with secret grief
She dwelt like a dumb priest with hidden gods
Unappeased by the wordless offering of her days,
Lifting to them her sorrow like frankincense,
Her life the altar, herself the sacrifice.” Savitri-472-73

“For when he wandered in the forest, oft
Her conscious spirit walked with him and knew (while Satyavan was away from her in the forest.)
His actions as if in herself he moved;
He, less aware, thrilled with her from afar.” Savitri-473 (This is subtle physical Divine Love which will one day replace the divisible human love.)

The More Important Secret of this chapter:

“FATE followed her foreseen immutable road.

Man’s hopes and longings build the journeying wheels

That bear the body of his destiny

And lead his blind will towards an unknown goal.

His fate within him shapes his acts and rules;

Its face and form already are born in him,

Its parentage is in his secret soul:

Here Matter seems to mould the body’s life

And the soul follows where its nature drives.

Nature and Fate compel his free-will’s choice.

But greater spirits this balance can reverse

And make the soul the artist of its fate.” Savitri-465

This is the mystic truth our ignorance hides:

Doom is a passage for our inborn force,

Our ordeal is the hidden spirit’s choice,

Ananke is our being’s own decree.” Savitri-465

“Once more was near the fair and fated place, The borders gleaming with the groves’ delight Where first she met the face of Satyavan

And he saw like one waking into a dream Some timeless beauty and reality,

The moon-gold sweetness of heaven’s earth-born child.”

Savitri-466

“And the stately care-worn woman once a queen Who now hoped nothing for herself from life, But all things only hoped for her one child, Calling on that single head from partial Fate All joy of earth, all heaven's beatitude.

Adoring wisdom and beauty like a young god's, She saw him loved by heaven as by herself,

She rejoiced in his brightness and believed in his fate And knew not of the evil drawing near." Savitri-467

"Heavy with the sorrow of a coming day And wondering at the carelessness of Fate

Who breaks with idle hands her supreme works,

They parted from her with pain-fraught burdened hearts As forced by inescapable fate we part

From one whom we shall never see again; Driven by the singularity of her fate, Helpless against the choice of Savitri's heart They left her to her rapture and her doom In the tremendous forest's savage charge." Savitri-467

"A fusing of the joys of earth and heaven,

A tremulous blaze of nuptial rapture passed,

A rushing of two spirits to be one, (Psychic experience)

A burning of two bodies in one flame. (Spiritual experience)

Opened were gates of unforgettable bliss: (Supramental and bliss Self experience.)

Two lives were locked within an earthly heaven

And fate and grief fled from that fiery hour." Savitri-468

"Her spirit stretched measureless in strength divine,

An anvil for the blows of Fate and Time:" Savitri-473

The Most Important Secret of this chapter:

"Priceless she deemed her joy so close to death; (Her joy was priceless which can confront death and can save life. Earthly joy is soul slaying and always submits itself before death.)

Apart with love she lived for love alone." Savitri-468 (She lived only for the Divine who has incarnated here as Love.)

"Into a simplest movement she could bring

A oneness with earth's glowing robe of light,

A lifting up of common acts by love." Savitri-470

"Always behind this strange divided life
Her spirit like a sea of living fire
Possessed her lover and to his body clung,

One locked embrace to guard its threatened mate.”
Savitri-471

“Yet ever they grew into each other more
Until it seemed no power could rend apart,
Since even the body’s walls could not divide.”
Savitri-473

Divine Amar Atman!

My Blessed Divine Child Guruprasad,

My all love and blessings to you. Now I have again identified the special features in Book-7, Canto-1 that have inspired our sadhana life.

1, First we discover that both Savitri and Satyavan were Karma Yogis accepting the most practical and the most difficult issue of material life and divinised them. They are:

“A worshipped empress all once vied to serve,
She made herself the diligent serf of all,
Nor spared the labour of broom and jar and well,
Or close gentle tending or to heap the fire
Of altar and kitchen, no slight task allowed
To others that her woman’s strength might do.
In all her acts a strange divinity shone:
Into a simplest movement she could bring
A oneness with earth’s glowing robe of light,
A lifting up of common acts by love.” Savitri-470

“All of his (Satyavan) speeding days that he could spare
From labour in the forest hewing wood
And hunting food in the wild sylvan glades
And service to his father’s sightless life
He gave to her (Savitri) and helped to increase the hours
By the nearness of his presence and his clasp,
And lavish softness of heart-seeking words
And the close beating felt of heart on heart.” Savitri-472

2, Secondly, we discover a subtle physical relation between them which will replace the transient human love. They are:

“For when he (Satyavan) wandered in the forest, oft Her conscious spirit walked with him and knew (while Satyavan was away from her in the forest.)
His actions as if in herself he moved;
He, less aware, thrilled with her from afar.” Savitri-473 (This is subtle physical Divine Love which will one day replace the divisible human love.)
3, Thirdly we discover their Psychic, Spiritual, Supramental Divine union and through which Psychic, Spiritual, Supramental and Bliss Love are manifested in earthly atmosphere. They are:
“A fusing of the joys of earth and heaven,
A tremulous blaze of nuptial rapture passed,
A rushing of two spirits to be one, (Psychic union experience)
A burning of two bodies in one flame. (Spiritual union experience) Opened were gates of unforgettable bliss: (Supramental and bliss Self experience.)
Two lives were locked within an earthly heaven
And fate and grief fled from that fiery hour.” Savitri-468
4, Fourthly we observe that if the bond of their relation is made strong through accumulation of Spiritual energy or Yoga Shakti or Divine Love, then Death cannot divide their life. They are:
“Priceless she deemed her joy so close to death; (Her joy was priceless which can confront death and can save life. Earthly joy is soul slaying and always submits itself before death.) Apart with love she lived for love alone.” Savitri-468 (She lived only for the Divine who has incarnated here as Love.)

“Always behind this strange divided life
Her spirit like a sea of living fire
Possessed her lover and to his body clung,
One locked embrace to guard its threatened mate.” Savitri-471

“Yet ever they grew into each other more
Until it seemed no power could rend apart,
Since even the body’s walls could not divide.” Savitri-473

There are still other areas which we have concentrated in the above study. In future we will reconcile them more concretely.
